winter@harbageconsulting.com

Winter Koifman serves as an Outreach Specialist for Harbage Consulting, conducting educational outreach in Southern California counties implementing the California Health Homes Program (HHP). They coordinate with a wide range of providers and stakeholders which serve the Health Homes eligible population in order to connect them with information and resources about this managed care Medi-Cal benefit on behalf of the Department of Health Care Services.

Before joining Harbage Consulting, Winter was a Programming Intern at the UCI LGBT Resource Center where they developed materials and programming for groups focused around serving marginalized and vulnerable student populations. They also volunteer for the Peer Self-Advocacy unit of Disability Rights California, providing support and education to adults with mental health disabilities.

Winter graduated from the University of California, Irvine with a bachelor's degree in Psychology and Social Behavior. They enjoy hiking, cross-stitching, and spending time with their family.
