

Emily Bauska

Strategic Communications
& Public Affairs Specialist

emily@harbageconsulting.com

Emily Bauska joined Harbage Consulting in August of 2019 as Strategic Communications and Public Affairs Specialist. Emily provides communications, stakeholder engagement, and public affairs support to multiple teams and clients across the firm. Emily is fluent in digital and print communications and helps the Harbage Consulting team use multiple communications channels to engage stakeholders and execute strategic projects and programs.

Emily brings a wide range of experience from the non-profit sector and outdoor industry. Most recently, she improved outreach efforts and strengthened support for the Pacific Crest Trail Association, where she enjoyed working with a diverse group of volunteers, partners and communities along the 2,650-mile National Scenic Trail. Throughout her career, Emily has worked collaboratively with non-profits, local governments, and private businesses to create innovative programs to help care for, protect, and promote access to public lands.

Emily holds an undergraduate degree in English from Willamette University. When she's not weeding her vegetable garden, Emily enjoys human-powered outdoor adventures like backpacking, rock climbing, paddling, and bicycling.
