Marcia Howard serves as the Executive Assistant to Harbage Consulting’s Managing Principal. Marcia has extensive experience working with foundations, non-profit health policy organizations, and state and federal government officials.

Prior to joining us as executive assistant, she spent 14 years serving in key administrative and accounting roles at the National Health Policy Forum at George Washington University. She is a seasoned event planning professional, having organized and managed over 300 meetings and site visits, specifically for congressional and executive branch staff on Capitol Hill.

Marcia is currently pursuing completion of her accounting degree. She is always looking for the next DIY project and is presently repainting her home, one room at a time. She enjoys driving the open road and takes frequent trips on the weekends, when time permits, to visit with her son, who’s working on his dream of becoming a pilot.
